none of it is aesthetic because bower should be written in bigger font and the subtitle should be small. None of it has a significant difference in ratio version 1 not correct, "Bower" goes out of the page

- Wrong placement.
- Neither has a correct layout
- both have flaws in layout and icons
- Although version 2 is better, neither can be considered a correct layout, as the positioning of the search box and search icon is incorrect. Similarly, neither of them is aesthetically pleasing.

For version 1, the image is seen partially. In version 2, the place of components are not visually pleasing, looks messy.

Version 2 not correct, text goes outside the container.
